

Gender Review of National Adaptation Plan (NAP) Documents

As part of its ongoing initiative on gender-responsive NAP processes, the NAP Global Network has undertaken a systematic review of NAP documents posted on the UNFCCC's NAP Central to assess the integration of gender considerations.

The document reviews explored how gender considerations have been addressed in the documents, as well as how women are positioned. It is important to note that most of the documents do not include much detail on the process undertaken to develop the NAP document or on strategies for implementation and M&E. Consequently, a lack of evidence in the document does not necessarily mean that gender hasn't been considered in a particular aspect of the NAP process—it may simply indicate a lack of documentation or that there is additional work to be done to elaborate on particular aspects of the plan.

Below is a summary of the review of Kiribati's NAP document.

Country	Kiribati
Document reviewed	Kiribati Joint Implementation Plan for Climate Change and Disaster Risk Management (KJIP) (2019-2028)
Gender and/or women referenced?	Yes
Summary of gender references	The update of the KJIP was informed by a gender analysis conducted in 2017, which sought to strengthen gender responsiveness. Women, women's organizations, and gender experts participated in the revision. For all of the KJIP's strategies, the actions and sub-actions include gender considerations. The plan's communications strategy calls to address gender barriers regarding climate information access. The plan's monitoring and evaluation framework highlights the need to include indicators of gender equality and women's empowerment.
Gender concepts referenced	Gender equality Gender equity	Gender differences Gender inclusiveness
Context for reference to gender	Gender identified as a cross-cutting issue for the plan
Positioning of women	As a group that is particularly vulnerable to climate change As stakeholders in adaptation planning processes As agents of change
