

Gender Review of National Adaptation Plan (NAP) Documents

As part of its ongoing initiative on gender-responsive NAP processes, the NAP Global Network has undertaken a systematic review of NAP documents posted on the United Nations Framework Convention on Climate Change's NAP Central to assess the integration of gender considerations.

The document reviews explored how gender considerations have been addressed in the documents, as well as how women are positioned. It is important to note that most of the documents do not include much detail on the process undertaken to develop the NAP document or on strategies for implementation and monitoring and evaluation. Consequently, a lack of evidence in the document does not necessarily mean that gender has not been considered in a particular aspect of the NAP process—it may simply indicate a lack of documentation or that there is additional work to be done to elaborate on particular aspects of the plan.

Below is a summary of the gender review of Niger's NAP document.

| | |
|---------------------------------|---|
| Country | Niger |
| Document reviewed | Plan national d'adaptation aux changements climatiques – Octobre 2022 |
| Gender and or women referenced? | Yes |
| Summary of gender references | The NAP includes gender as a guiding principle, recognizing the roles and importance of young people, the elderly, women, and people with disabilities in the NAP process, as well as their increasing and higher level of vulnerability. It also highlights the fact that Niger has used gender analysis to inform the sectoral adaptation options and the importance of the participation of women's and women's organizations in the implementation of adaptation measures and programs. Each of the 22 priority adaptation programs also describes how they will consider gender. Additionally, the document refers to the National Policy on Gender, the roles of the ministry in charge of gender issues, and the National Observatory for the Promotion of Gender to support adequate consideration of gender in this process. |
