

Gender Review Of National Adaptation Plan (NAP) Documents

As part of its ongoing initiative on gender-responsive NAP processes, the NAP Global Network has undertaken a systematic review of NAP documents posted on the UNFCCC's NAP Central to assess integration of gender considerations.

The document reviews explored how gender considerations have been addressed in the documents, as well as how women are positioned. It is important to note that most of the documents do not include much detail on the process undertaken to develop the NAP document, or on strategies for implementation and M&E. Consequently, a lack of evidence in the document does not necessarily mean that gender hasn't been considered in a particular aspect of the NAP process – it may simply be a lack of documentation or that there is additional work to be done to elaborate particular aspects of the plan.

Below is a summary of the review of St. Vincent and the Grenadines's NAP document.

Country	St. Vincent and the Grenadines
Document reviewed	National Adaptation Plan for St. Vincent and the Grenadines (2019)
Gender and/or women referenced?	Yes
Summary of gender references	Gender is identified a cross-cutting issue for the plan and gender sensitivity is identified as a principle for the plan. Women were actively involved in the development of the NAP document. The plan also indicates that all implemented adaptation options will go through a gender analysis. Finally, the plan calls attention to the need for gender-disaggregated data in the monitoring and evaluation process.
